ATELIER OF PROJECTS:
EXPLORING PRACTICE BASED RESEARCH WITH STUDENTS AND OTHER ACTORS

OBJECTIVE

If you are a teacher/researcher from a
Polytechnic Institute, you can't miss this opportunity:

- To promote international good practices regarding practice based R&D projects (pbR&D) and activities, as well as on how to format and evaluate these projects.
- To discuss ideas for pbR&D projects and matching consortiums of institutions considering possible applications for the new call of pbR&D projects announced by the Program for Modernization and Valorization of Polytechnics (Ministry of Science, Technology and Higher Education).

ATELIER OF PROJECTS HOW IT WORKS

This is an excellent opportunity for large groups of participants to discuss ideas for pbR&D projects, as well as their formats, with groups of invited specialists. These groups then change of discussants. Opportunities for cooperations and consortiums are also explored.

A project brokerage platform will support the event.

Participants may upload a short project description to the platform, including a summary of the objectives, activities and deliverables of the project. In the sessions of the atelier of projects, projects will be discussed and commented by the team of specialists, considering the practice based R&D format. Several tables of discussion of projects will be organized for that purpose, simultaneously.

HOW TO PROPOSE A PROJECT IDEA FOR DISCUSSION?

ABOUT PENICHE

Peniche lies on a peninsula with a perimeter of approximately 6 miles, and Cabo Carvoeiro constitutes the western part of it. The coastline is shaped by majestic reefs and magnificent bath beaches of great extension, stretching over the ocean in a constant display of astonishing effects that amaze the visitors' eyes. Off Peniche, we can find the Berlenga Archipelago, if we look over the Atlantic Ocean, at the western part.

Population: 27 312 inhabitants | Area: 10.8 square miles
